FASE
(Foundational Application of Social Engineering)

This is a 4-day course that is based on the very foundation of becoming a master communicator that can be applied into almost any field. This class has been taught to government agencies as well as major companies throughout the globe. The 4-day breakdown is:

Day 1: DISC Communication, Rapport Building, Pretexting, Elicitation
Day 2: Influence, Manipulation, Framing
Day 3: Nonverbals, facial expression and body language
Day 4: Application. The students dictate how personal application is made of the previous days work.

Our schedule runs from 0900 to 1700 daily, and evening homework is compulsory. These assignments, referred to as "bumps," are designed with specific objectives to guide our morning debrief.

Every class comprises a minimum of 10 students and a maximum of 24, ensuring individual attention.

Public Costs is $4999 per person

PASE
(Practical Application of Social Engineering)

This is a 4-day course that is designed to give the students practical skill in applying everything learned in FASE class during actual attack vectors. This class is unique, in that you are given live targets that do not know they are part of the class. These targets will be OSINT'ed, phished, and vished over the course days.

Day 1: You will learn all about OSINT, open-source intelligence, gathering.
DAY 2: You will continue performing OSINT on your assigned targets.
DAY 3: You will design, write and launch as many phishing emails as you can.
DAY 4: You will design, plan and perform vishing attacks against your targets

Our schedule runs daily from 0900 to 1730, and we request that all students stay at the hotel where the training is conducted or in close proximity to the facility. This arrangement allows for vishing calls to occur in real-time, albeit from your individual rooms or workspaces.
Each class can range from 10 up to 30, the number of students dictates the number of instructors.

Public Costs is $4999 per person

MLSE
(Master's Level Social Engineering)

This intensive 5-day course is uniquely designed as the world's sole laboratory for red teamers and social engineers. A director recruits four performers who believe they are participating in a mystery shopping assignment aimed at enhancing corporate training. These mystery shoppers are placed in an office environment, equipped with computers, phones, and credit cards, and are instructed on where to shop and when to submit their reports. They will be operating for a fictitious company created specifically for this educational experience.

Students will perform cybersecurity activities, including phishing, vishing, physical penetration tests, seliciting information from targets, and infiltrating VPNs, networks, and electronic devices.

This class is quite dynamic, typically commencing around 0900 or 1000 and concluding around 0200 or 0300, resulting in lengthy days, as we have breaks during both day and night. There is no fixed structure, as each session unfolds uniquely. We conclude the class by inviting the actors to join us for a debriefing, allowing them to share their insights and discuss any moments where we may have been caught off guard.

This class has a maximum of 16 students, and it costs, $10,000 per person.

CESE
(Certified Ethical Social Engineer)

After you complete the Foundational Application of Social Engineering (FASE) and Practical Application of Social Engineering (PASE) classes, you are eligible for one free attempt at the Certified Ethical Social Engineer (CESE) certification exam.

Furthermore, if you believe you have the necessary skills to succeed, you can register for the CESE as an independent certification.

We feel that a beneficial certification must contain these elements:
• Be Practical
• Be Challenging
• Be Real World

The Certified Ethical Social Engineer Certification exam accomplishes all that.

The SECOM team has been managing a target company for more than ten years. This company boasts numerous employees designed to appear as genuine individuals online, even though they are not real. Additionally, there are some staff members who are unaware of their involvement in a certification procedure.

These staff members manage the secretarial and technical support systems. You have 48 hours to achieve all certification objectives during your certification period. Access to SECOM's specialized vishing server is provided. All guidelines will be delivered at the moment you decide to begin the certification.

Mastering Information Elicitation

The art of information elicitation is not something that has been taught outside of nation states, or when it is, they are using methods that lack scientific backing. This class was developed by Chris Hadnagy with over 20 years of elicitation experience and Dr. Abbie Maroño, who has her PhD in Behavior, psychology and nonverbals.

This is an AUDIO only course that can be taken on demand that comes with a practical certification. It is 4-5 hours of content.

01 – Rethinking Elicitation
02 – Priming Cooperation
03 – Facilitating Cooperation
04 – Effective Negotiations
05 – Social Influence and its Application To Vishing
06 – The Strategic Use of Power
07 – Detecting Deception
08 – Emotional Control

This course is $599 with the certification.
